Let's join our hands in friendship's golden ring,
 And put our heart's love in the song we sing—
 A song of honor to our dearest friend,
 A song of loyalty that will not ever end.
 We love the crimson and we love the white;
 We pledge ourselves to keep her honor bright;
 We proudly cheer her name with all our might—

"Doc"

From 1924 until ill health brought his retirement in 1957, Frank H. ("Doc") Coker lived and taught among the formulae, compounds, and equations of his chemistry lab. Many of today's scientists received their first introduction to the atomic theory under his capable instruction.

His sparkling wit and humor, and his loyalty to his beloved Ludlow, "the city near which Cincinnati was located," endeared him to the hearts of all. To "Doc," in whom the SPiRiT of science found a willing and efficient servant, we respectfully and affectionately dedicate this 1958 edition of LEST WE FORGET

Principal H. T. Mitchell

the Principals

To most Holmes students, Harry T. Mitchell is the smiling person seen at all official functions and infrequently at assemblies or strolling through the halls. To seniors especially, he is a friend and counselor. In the four years that he has been principal he has exemplified the spirit of Holmes with insight and tireless effort.

Mr. Mitchell is ably assisted by LeRoy Draud and Herbert Tudor in the senior and junior buildings, respectively.

English

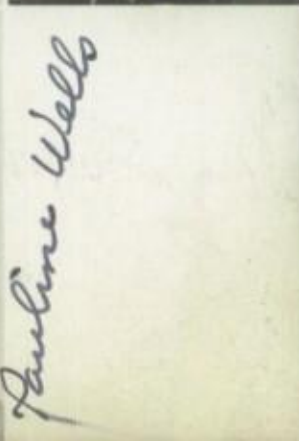

A correct command of the English language is more than an asset; it is essential to a well-rounded, successful life. Under the guidance of these teachers we have endeavored to learn to "watch our p's and q's."

Above: Marty Norris, Linda Lucas, and Martha Sparks use the wastebasket and an eraser to brew an imaginary potion, as they depict Macbeth's witches in an English III class.

Teachers Club; Don H. Poston, Flats and Cues, Speakers' Bureau; Audrey Renfro; Clyde L. Rouse, Holmespun, Yearbook. Third row: Capitola Simpson, Holmespun; Theresa Slavosky, Debuteens; Margaret Stephens; Christine Tudor; Pauline Wells, Ping Pong Club.

Languages

Many students fail to see and understand the importance of foreign languages. The instructors in this department attempt to show their students that a better understanding of our own language and of the peoples of foreign lands can be gained through the knowledge of other languages.

Pauline Garrett; Robert L. Ladd, Senior Latin Club; Virginia Roe, Inter Nos; J. B. White, Pan American Club; Emma Yates, Laeti Latin Club.

Mathematics

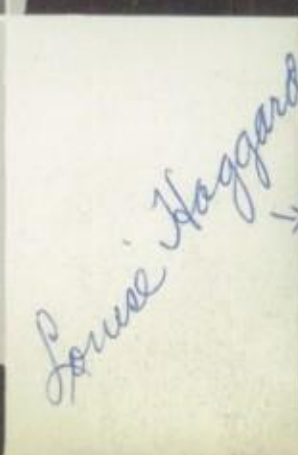

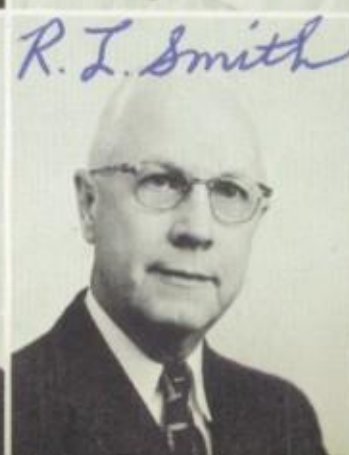

Equations! Geometric patterns! Ratios! The seemingly ceaseless mysteries of mathematics are made clearer in these classrooms. From here may come the engineers and scientists of tomorrow.

Bottom: Bert Bennett explains polyhedrons to his solid geometry class, evidently preceded by one of his numerous wisecracks.

Science

Why? This is the question that prompts progress. Scientific research is one of America's greatest stepping stones to a happier and more intelligent way of life. Holmes has a full science curriculum preparing its students for a role in their nation's future.

Right: "Doc" Baulch instructs as Blaine Webster does an experiment for classmates Tom Hyland, Charles Dickmeyer, Lonnie Edwards, and Bob Krohman.

Social Science

One of the aims of man is to understand mankind. This is made easier through the study of the Social Sciences. By knowing what men have done in the past and how certain factors influenced their actions, we can make our own lives happier.

First row: Mildred B. Carter; Mary Case, Pen Pal, Travel Club; Mabel K. Elliott; Lucille Fightmaster, Senior Girls' Bowling; James Jenkins, Junior Class; Joseph K. Art and Music

Self-expression is important in everyone's life. Feelings may be clearly shown through the opportunities of art and music. These talents are given expression in various classrooms devoted to these subjects.

Home Economics

Well known is the fact that "the way to a man's heart, is through his stomach." In Home Ec classes girls are offered help in finding just the right path by pursuing the study of correct and balanced meals, as well as other homemaking tasks.

Commerce

Innumerable people are dependent upon the efforts of the armies of office workers in this country. Knowing how to type a correct letter is much harder and much more important than it sounds. This and similar knowledge is available to students in the Commercial Course.

Health and Physical Ed.

Health and Physical Education walk hand in hand toward their mutual goal. While one stresses knowledge of the body and its functions, the other strives to put this knowledge into practical use. If one does not have health and physical well-being, how great can his happiness be?

Right: Charles Ransler and his health class ponder over the thought-provoking processes of the human body.

Library

Above: Those in search of information or who like to read and have a free period can usually be found in the library enjoying one of its many books or magazines.

Care to climb the highest mountain? How about exploring the ocean floor? With a good book and a little imagination, one can do anything his heart desires.

Whether he wishes to thumb through the latest magazine or to look for a specific assignment, the Holmesite is fortunate in having two well-equipped libraries available to him.

Secretaries

Behind every man, there is a woman, and behind every one of our principals there is a "right-hand-girl." These secretaries are on hand to assist the administrative heads in their various duties, take charge of the daily announcements, and serve as typists, receptionists, and "go-betweens."

Right: Always ready with a smile and consideration for those who seek Mr. Draud, is his secretary, Mrs. Leota Kesslering.

Left: Mr. Tudor need not worry about the efficiency of his office work. Mrs. Keitel seems to have things well in hand.

Aids

No visitor to Holmes could ever walk from the entrance of the junior building to the east exit of the senior building without noticing the "helping hands" at their stations. Student aids are placed on duty in the halls, administrative and deans' offices, in the gymnasiums, and in the audio-visual department.

Barbara Schaeffler, Virginia Thompson, Betty Carter, Leah Cook are in search of information in the most logical place—the senior department library.

Maintenance

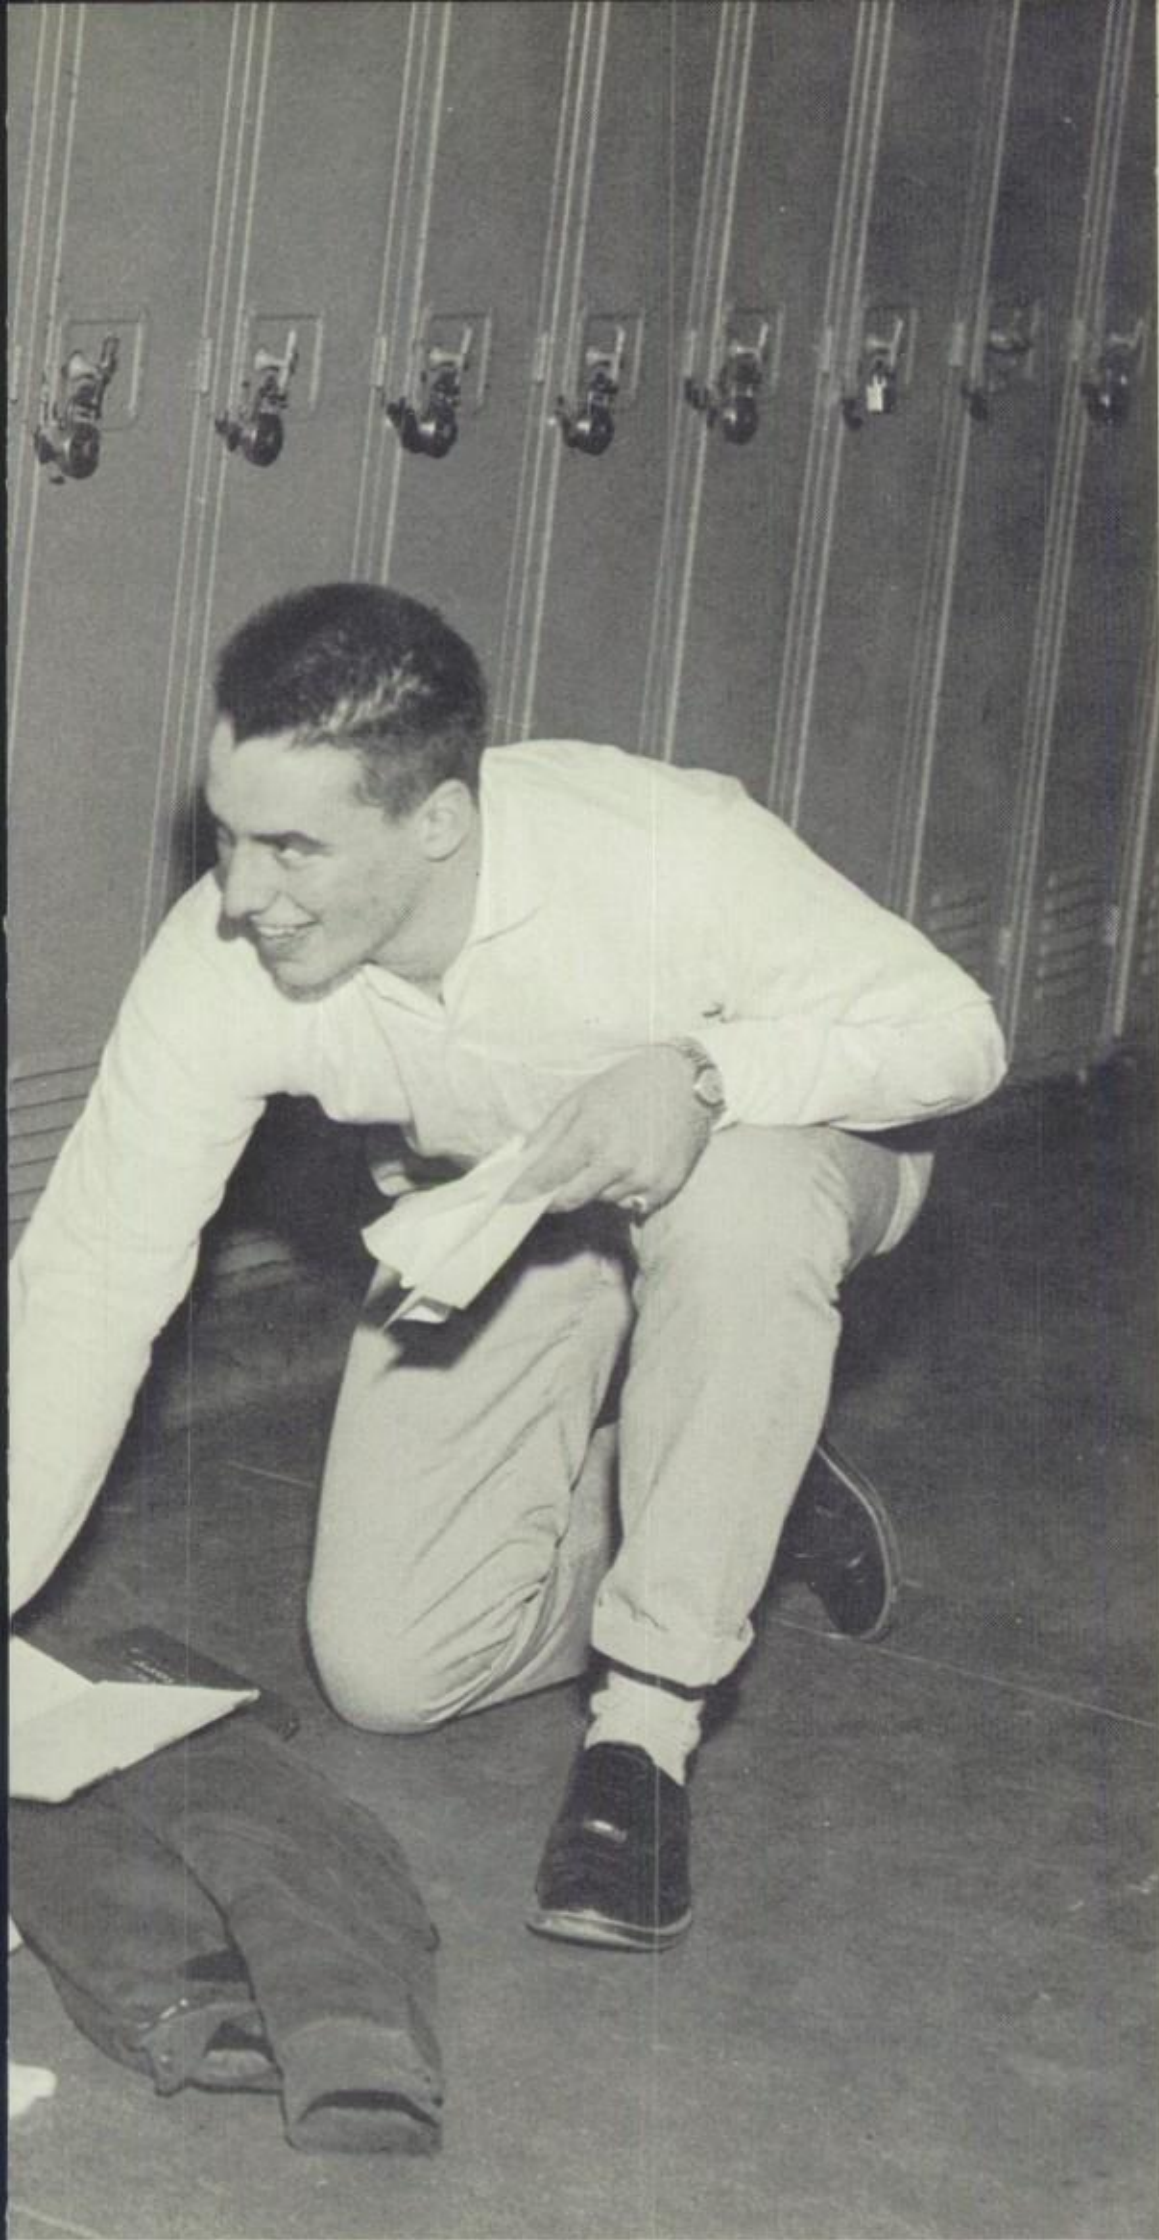

Sometimes the students of Holmes may not fully realize and appreciate the work that goes into keeping the school routine functioning properly. The cafeteria staff spends much time and effort preparing meals for the students. The beauty and neatness of our campus and school can be accredited to the capable maintenance staff. School matrons are on hand in time of need with everything from aspirin to a little friendly conversation.

Right: Pausing in the performance of one of their many maintenance duties are James Jackson, Art Schmidt, and Charles Ricken.

Senior Class Officers and Sponsor

Taking time from their busy schedules for a friendly chat are senior class officers Ted Onkst, president; Bonnie Walker, secretary; Barbara Shelton, treasurer; and Tom Herron, vice-president.

In the memory of all seniors will remain the thoughts of our senior class sponsor, Mr. Vernon Bryant.

We as a whole class thank him for sincere cooperation through two wonderful years.

Although unknown to many at first, he became well acquainted with most of the class through the Junior Revue.

Then as another year started and we received our class rings, Mr. Bryant was always there to assist.

Putting the show on the road and helping to make it successful saw Mr. Bryant pitching in to help out.

So now as our greatest year ends and we enter upon the dawn of a new life, we give our sincere appreciation and thanks to you, Mr. Bryant, our class sponsor.

Seniors

Senior Traditions

From the day that he has his class pictures taken, a junior begins to realize and feel that he is a senior, but it is not until that day in December that the realization is complete. When he receives his class ring, he knows that he is an upperclassman. It is then, too, that his pride is complete; his pride in his class, its banner, its flower, and all the things for which they stand. This pride even continues after he has earned the long sought and coveted diploma.

Seniors spend the early morning looking over their copies of Lest We Forget and later signing friends' copies with autographs and witticisms.

Four mischievous "youngsters," Barbara Shelton, Judy Bradley, Jeanne Chambers, and Mary Pittman, conspire in the hall to revolt with "mob rule!"

Kiddie Day

As the seniors approach the end of their high school days, they lapse into second childhood. This malady has become known as "Kiddie Day," when confused and concerned underclassmen try vainly to hide from the suddenly berserk seniors, who run through the halls with their yearbook in one hand and a water pistol in the other.

activities

Student Councils

Government of the students, by the students, and for the students is practiced by the Junior and Senior Student Councils. Students in grades seven through nine enjoy participating in the yearly Tea Dances and a Courtesy Week under the auspices of the Junior Student Council, while the Senior Council undertakes the selling of football programs, decorating the goal posts during football season, and sundry other projects.

Each homeroom elects a representative to attend meetings twice a month and to act as the voice of that homeroom.

Honors

In every activity there are certain people who come to the front and are noted for their outstanding efforts. So that their work will not go un-rewarded, certain of these people are awarded membership in "Honor Societies."

To be a member of National Thespian Society is a commendable achievement for a person interested in dramatics or public speaking, while Quill and Scroll membership appeals to aspiring journalists. National Honor Society is composed of students who maintain a high academic standing. Each year representatives from Holmes attend Boys' State and Girls' State. The people chosen for these duties must be active in extra-curricular activities, maintain good scholastic standings, and display good citizenship and leadership.

Honor day serves as a further tribute to such people.

Below: Members of the National Honor Society, try to show that a good education is a means to better government and a higher standard of living. Members are: J. Remley, B. Walker, M. Leslie, C. Schaffield, J. Chambers, C. Robinson, S. McChesney, Jane Taylor, M. Taylor, and Joan Taylor.

Right: Because of outstanding work in the field of journalism, Joan Taylor, Jean Sturgeon, Bonnie Walker, Win McChord, Roger Meredith, and Myrna Taylor are members of Quill and Scroll Honor Society.

Debutees

Debutees is a club which endeavors to find, or cultivate, the underlying beauty and charm of a girl and teach her the importance of poise and maturity. Under the direction of Miss Theresa Slavosky, this large club is enlightened on the subjects of make-up, poise, and lady-like behavior.

President Jeanne Chambers presides over the activities of Holmes' largest club; the Debutees.

Ed Pemberton and Joe Lowenthal compete in a stimulating game of ping-pong before the regular meeting of H-Y. Members are—Seated: H. Fillios, J. Leslie.
Standing: A. Rehfuß, Z. Abbott, R. Frazier, C. White, R. Glass, J. Reynolds, J. Deye, B. Woodyard, J. Smith, R. Meredith, P. McElhinney, G. Jackson, D. Frazier, J. Todd, P. Simos.

Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y

The Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y Clubs work in and under the auspices of the Covington Y.M.C.A. The members meet at the "Y" on Monday nights for programs and business meetings focused upon planning such events as dances, song-fests, and preparations for the annual Youth Assembly at Frankfort.

Camera Club

"On the word, 'Fire' . . ." is probably a quotation that has been heard by anyone who has had his picture taken by a member of the Camera Club. The shutterbugs who convene in Mrs. Haggard's room learn through practice in taking and developing pictures.

Some members of Camera Club have it easy posing, while the rest do the work. Posing are: D. Baber, P. Ball, N. White, R. Morris. Other members look on—Standing: E. Currin, W. McChord, P. McElhinney, H.

Lucas, D. McElheney, D. Zosel, D. Lovell, J. Taylor, J. Knight, R. Blick, R. Tucker, R. Weeks, J. Ante, G. Clay, J. Umthun. Kneeling: J. McKnight, L. Robinson, M. McCoy, J. Stonestreet, M. Pittman.

Speakers' Bureau

A person who is able to speak confidently and fluently commands the attention of his audience. To acquire this ability is the aim of Don H. Poston's Speakers' Bureau, a club of chosen membership for students interested in public speaking.

Pittman, M. Lawrence, L. Mistler, S. Cooper, J. Luthy. Seventh row: B. Browning, M. Corns. Eighth row: Sandi McChesney.

Travel Club

In the spring of the year a curious thing happens to a number of students. They start scrimping their lunch money, doing odd jobs, and in general they try to save money.

Their motive is the Travel Club's annual trip. Every year this club takes off for some point of interest, and no one wants to miss the fun.

Above: Holmes' Marching Band and the Majorettes occupy these fifty-yard line seats at all football games and prove to be the most enthusiastic rooters. Members are: First row: R. Hill, E. Holmes High School Band

Half-time highlights, headlined by the high-stepping Holmes Majorettes and the Marching Band, add to the crisp excitement of Friday night football games.

The versatility exhibited by this year's band is largely accredited to their director, Mr. John T. Larimer.

Above: Directing not only the band, but the musical talents of other students also, is the job of Mr. Larimer.

Below: Proving that they, too, are capable of a "flying wedge" (even though it is inverted) are Holmes Majorettes and Drum Major: Jo Ann Haggard, Judy Luthy, Emma Edwards, Barbara Hedges, Dianne Carnes, Rodney Hill, Evelyn Clore, Darlene Stubbeman, Colina Johnson, Donna Schlueter, and Blanche Thompson.

A Cappella Choir

Girls' Glee Club

A singing voice shows a happy heart, and through proper supervision, this happiness can be shared in melodic tones. A Cappella Choir and the Glee Clubs furnish musically inclined students with the atmosphere and opportunity to lift their voices in song.

Right: Miss Alice Parsons spends much of her time at the piano working on arrangements for the Girls' Glee Club.

Language Clubs

The Language Clubs are supported by those students whose courses include Latin or Spanish. These clubs aim to further the interests of the student by studying about the people and places associated with their language.

"The news you make; the views we take!" Upon this motto, The Holmespun bases its publications, while Lest We Forget strives to depict the typical school year at Holmes. In future years, as we thumb through these publications who knows what we may experience, perhaps a chuckle at high-school frivolities, or a tinge of nostalgia.

Above: Holmespun typists Lois Oden and Connie Stadelmann peck away as the rest of the business staff applies elbow grease to their various duties. Members of the business staff are: J. Bowling, L. Oden, J. Perkins, H. Lucas, R. Meredith, B. Thompson, C. Stadelmann, and B. Meyer.

Art Club

"One picture is worth a thousand words," and we might add that one work of art has twice the value of a photograph. A photograph can not possibly reveal the emotion that one deft touch of brush can bring to life. The Art Club endeavors to cultivate one's natural artistic ability.

F. H. A.

Future Home Makers of America! What could better explain this club and its purpose than its own name. Girls interested in becoming successful housewives join this club for more extensive studies in care of home and family.

The senior members of Future Homemakers of America practice the art of table setting: Marion Hodge, Judy Bradley, Doris Stewart, Mary Francis Higgins, Mary Penniston, Mrs. Clara Eaton, Marilyn Cunningham, Sherleen Hall Claypool, Dotty Colvin, Alice Taylor, and Barbara Ratcliff.

Office workers constitute a great number of the employees in America, and for girls interested in the secretarial field the Commerce Club offers many advantages. This club visits local firms and holds meetings, featuring speakers, to better acquaint themselves with the business world.

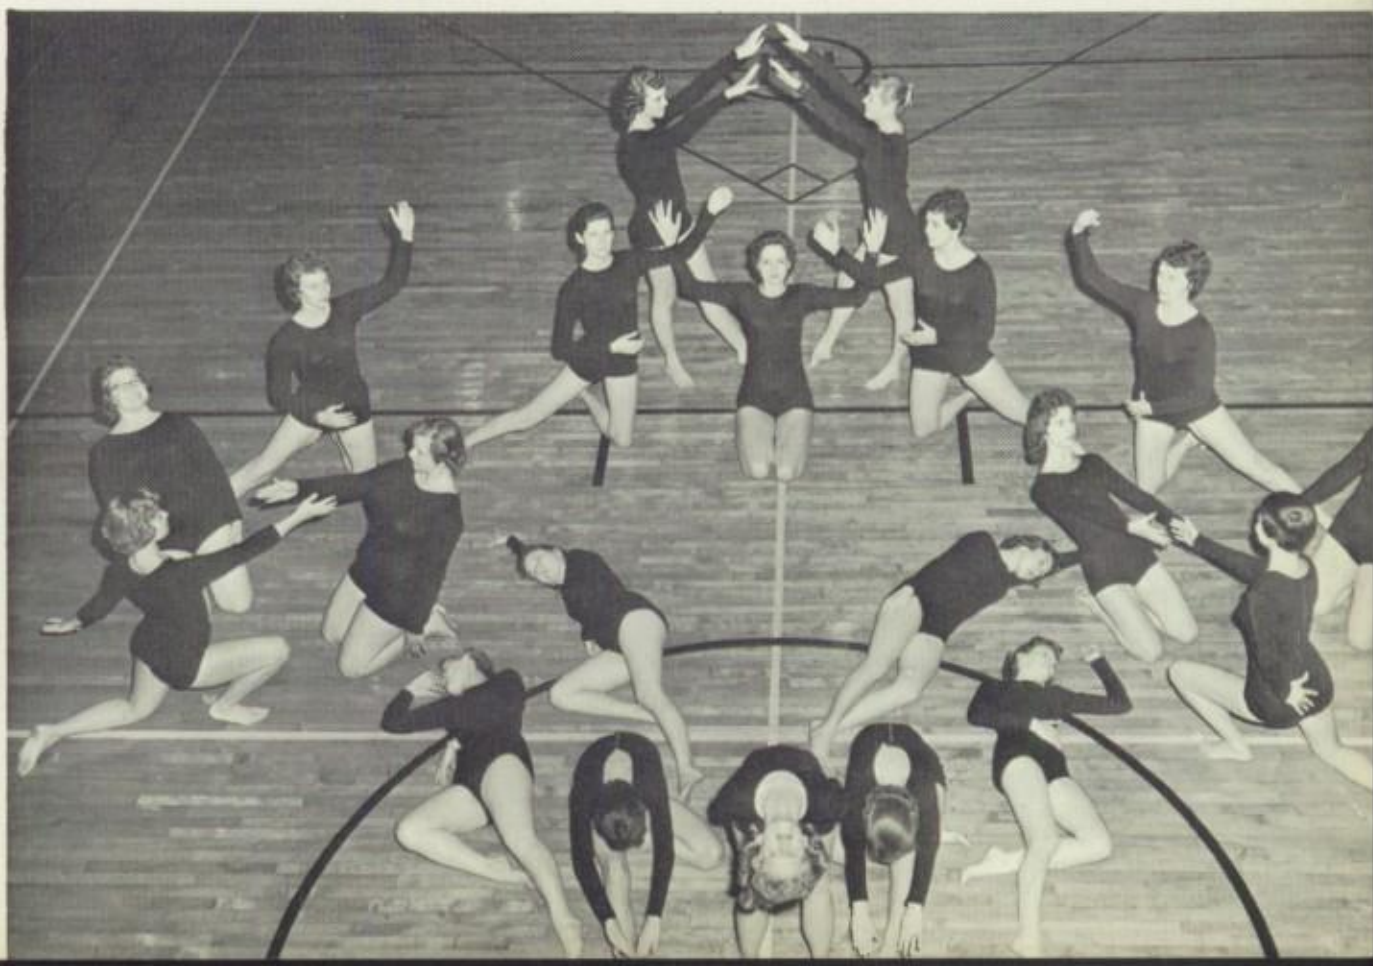

Commerce Club

Under the direction of Miss Thelma Shelton, the Modern Dance Club, which is composed of senior high school girls and apprentices from the Ninth grade, meets every Wednesday morning and goes through their many routines.

Its purpose is the same as that of physical education—for health and to teach skill, rhythm, and varied social characteristics.

Modern Dance

Displaying the art of modern dance are—First row: P. Sorrell, R. Rider, S. Hamilton, L. Sharp, D. Stewart. Second row: M. Hopkins, D. Unkraut, H. Herget, S. Ellison, M. Childress, S. Members of the cast of Tonight in Samarkand, listen attentively while Mr. Poston, director of the play, goes through their lines. They are—First row: Vincent Gibbs, Ramona Rider, Evelyn Clore, Peggy Ball, Dianne Carnes, Jim Ante, Mr. Poston. Second row: Jim Lowry, Marvin Vawter, Roger Coleman, David Rivers, Win McChord.

The long arm of the law in the shape of Marvin Vawter finally catches up with Dave Rivers in Flats & Cues major production, "Tonight in Samarkand."

Dramatics

"All the world is a stage," and Holmes is no exception. Students, through participation in dramatic clinics, are continually laden with laurels for themselves, the club, and the school.

Don H. Poston, sponsor, delights in directing plays which are new to the local scene. "Tonight in Samarkand," last year's production, continued in the tradition of top-notch performance.

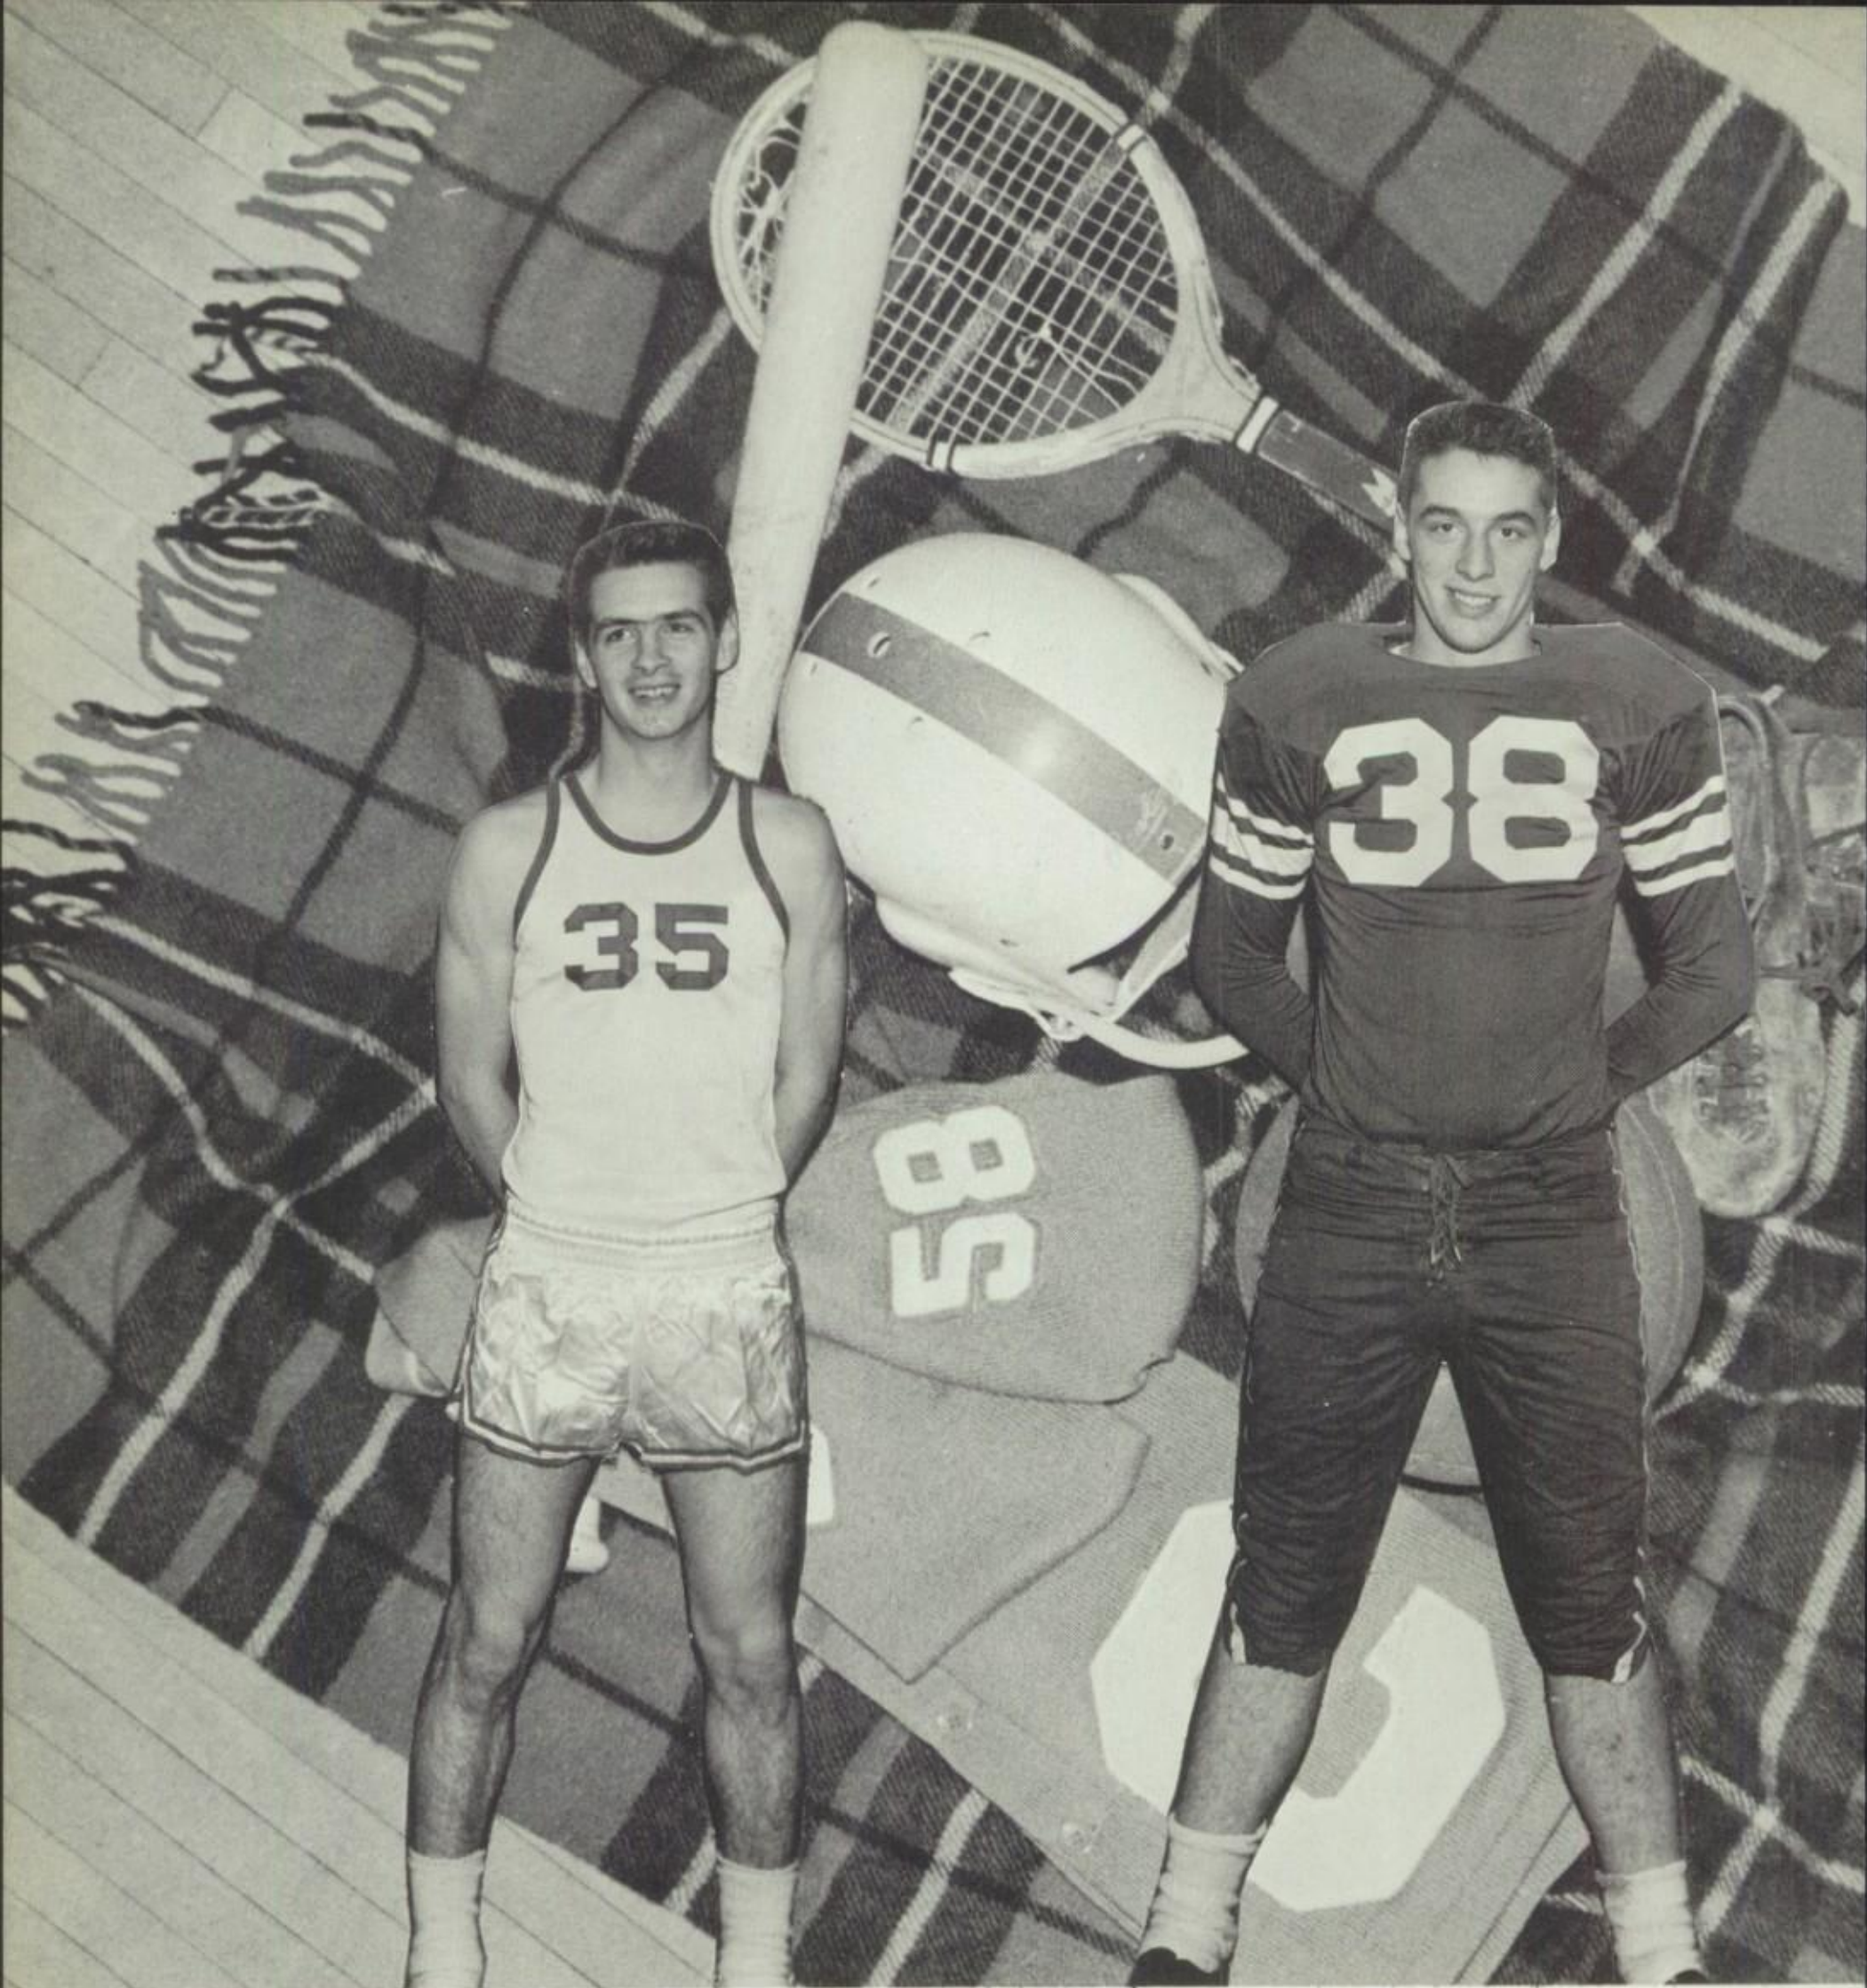

"Wish and it shall be granted," or so says Vincent Gibbs as he proves his "magic powers" to Peggy Ball in Touch of Fancy, one of Flats & Cues' productions.

Coeds Evelyn Clore, Peggy Ball, and Sandy Hamilton are astonished as playboy Win McChord, the little magic man Vincent Gibbs, and quarterback Roger Coleman appear at the window dressed for the Prom.

Bertha Browning, Connie Stadelmann, Sandy Hamilton, Charles Bryan, and Win McChord, were members of a circus troop in "Tonight in Samarkand."

Football

The "Big Red" varsity squad this year:
(Kneeling) R. Weaver, C. Slusher, S. Dailey, R. Bird, J. Jennings, T. Hampton, J. Moore, A. Caldwell, R. Hampton, H. Lucas, B. Brockman, J. Jenkins, D. Dramis, R. Bacigalupo, G. Murphy, R. Haake, R. Deering. (Standing) J. Smiley, M. Vawter, O. Howell, R. Williams, D. Hatfield, J. Hudson, T. Whaley, T. Manausa, S. Larsen, B. Welch, J. Soward, A. Pribble, D. Jones, R. Sargent, J. Shelton, A. Lewis, and J. Logsdon.

Sitting in council on the football field are the Big Red's football coaches: C. Ransler, B. Bennett, L. McDermott, Head Coach T. Ellis, and R. Rothfuss.

Ready for the opposing team is the Bulldog's line: J. Shelton, R. Deering, A. Lewis, J. Logsdon, capt., K. Lear, co-capt., D. Jones, O. Howell, and backfield: S. Larsen, J. Soward, G. Murphy, and T. Manausa.

Facing four of the schools that eventually finished in the first division of the N.K.A.C., the "Big Red" suffered their first losing season in nine years. The loss of several returning lettermen through injuries and withdrawals contributed to the seven losses of a ten game season.

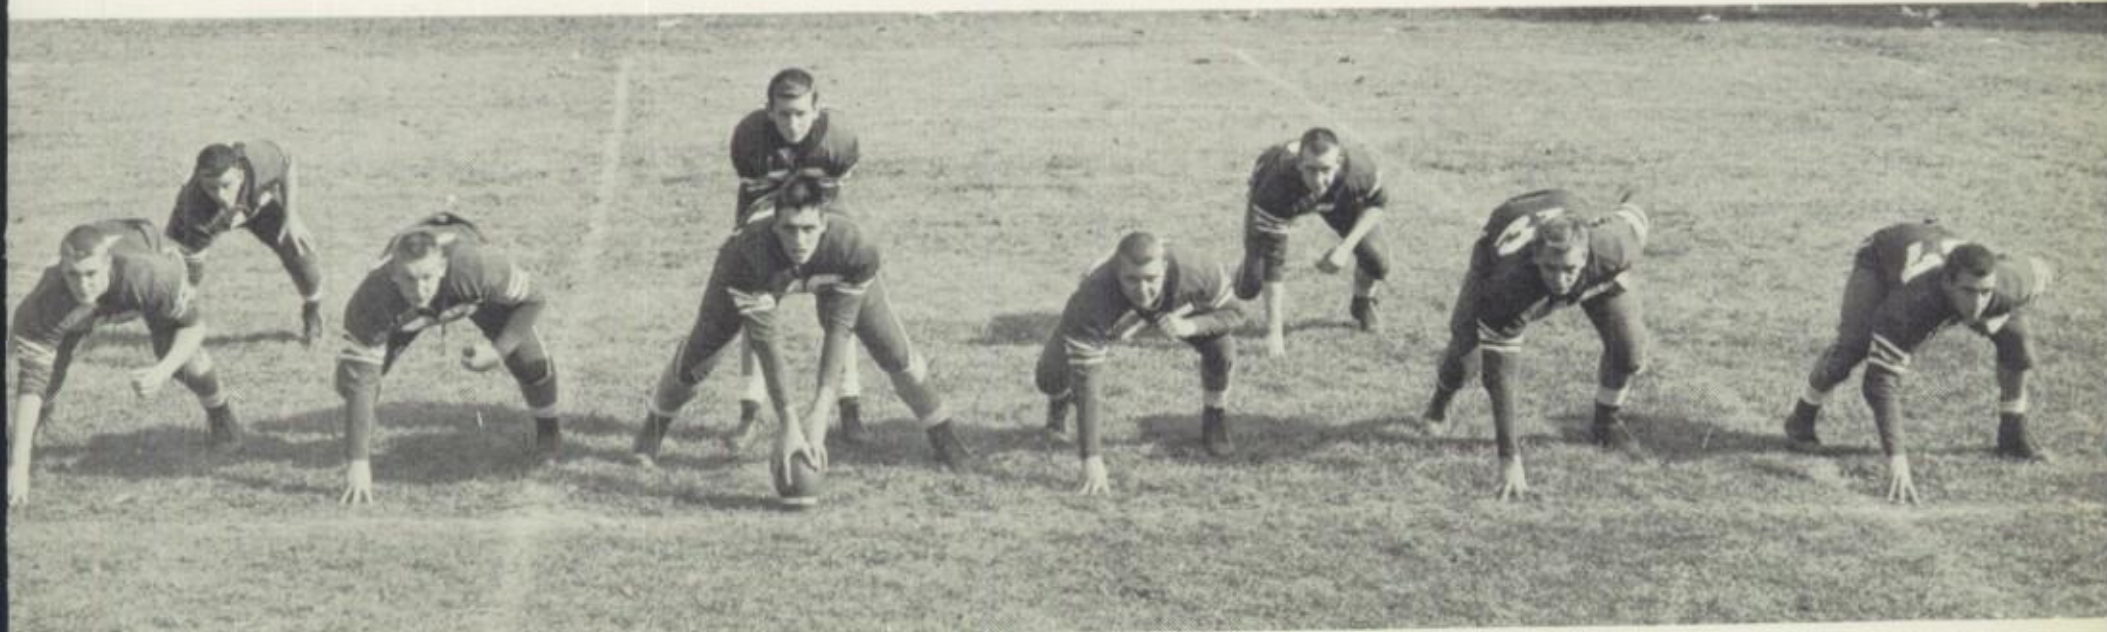

The "Bulldogs" lost their original captain, Ken Goodhew, and co-captain, Jim Evans. Jim Logsdon and Ken Lear compensated for this loss by supplying spirit and determination to their cohorts.

The "Dog" fans were gleeful after watching the defeat of their long-time rival, Newport Public. These same fans were saddened by the loss to the Dixie Colonels, another arch-rival.

Reversing last season's results Holmes lost its two games to the down-state powerhouses, Lexington Henry Clay and Louisville Male.

Victories were scored over Erlanger Lloyd and Newport Catholic, while Bellevue, Cincinnati St. Xavier, Boone County and Highlands, the N.K.A.C. champs, vanquished the "Bulldogs."

Varsity Basketball

Below: Holmes hoop-squad coaches discussing plans for future games are Joe Koke, Tom Ellis, Charles Ransler, and Lloyd McDermott.

Coach Ellis's cagers opened the '57 season by topping the St. Henry Crusaders, December 3, on the Holmes hardwood, 72-63.

After copping their first seven games, the "Big Red" fell from the undefeated list as Covington Catholic posted a 64-54 score, January 14. The Bulldogs got back in the "groove" January 17, and handed the Dixie Colonels their first conference defeat by a lopsided score of 78-55.

Under the claws of arch-rival Newport Public, our hoopsters suffered their second defeat of the season with a 69-55 setback. A win was chalked up against Ludlow along with a loss to Campbell County in the next two games played.

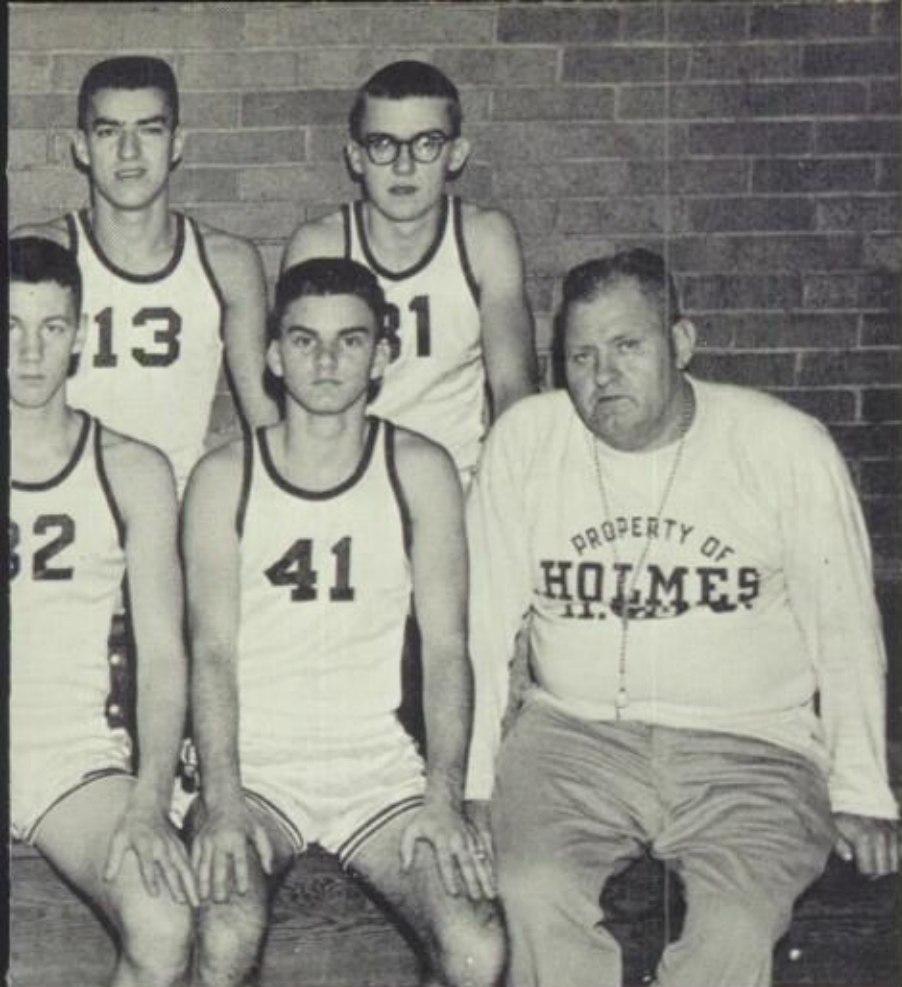

It seemed as if the "Dogs" were on the winning path again as they downed Dayton, Newport Catholic, and Bellevue, only to have Boone County upset them by a score of 68-61.

Back in winning stride again, the "Big Red" won their next five games. Holmes fans were thrilled when the Bulldogs avenged an earlier defeat from Newport Public by stomping them, 76-65.

Holmes Bulldogs dropped their last game of the season to Newport Catholic, February 25, on the 'Breds floor by a score of 85-56.

In tournament play Holmes was defeated by Covington Catholic, March 5, by a score of 58-50.

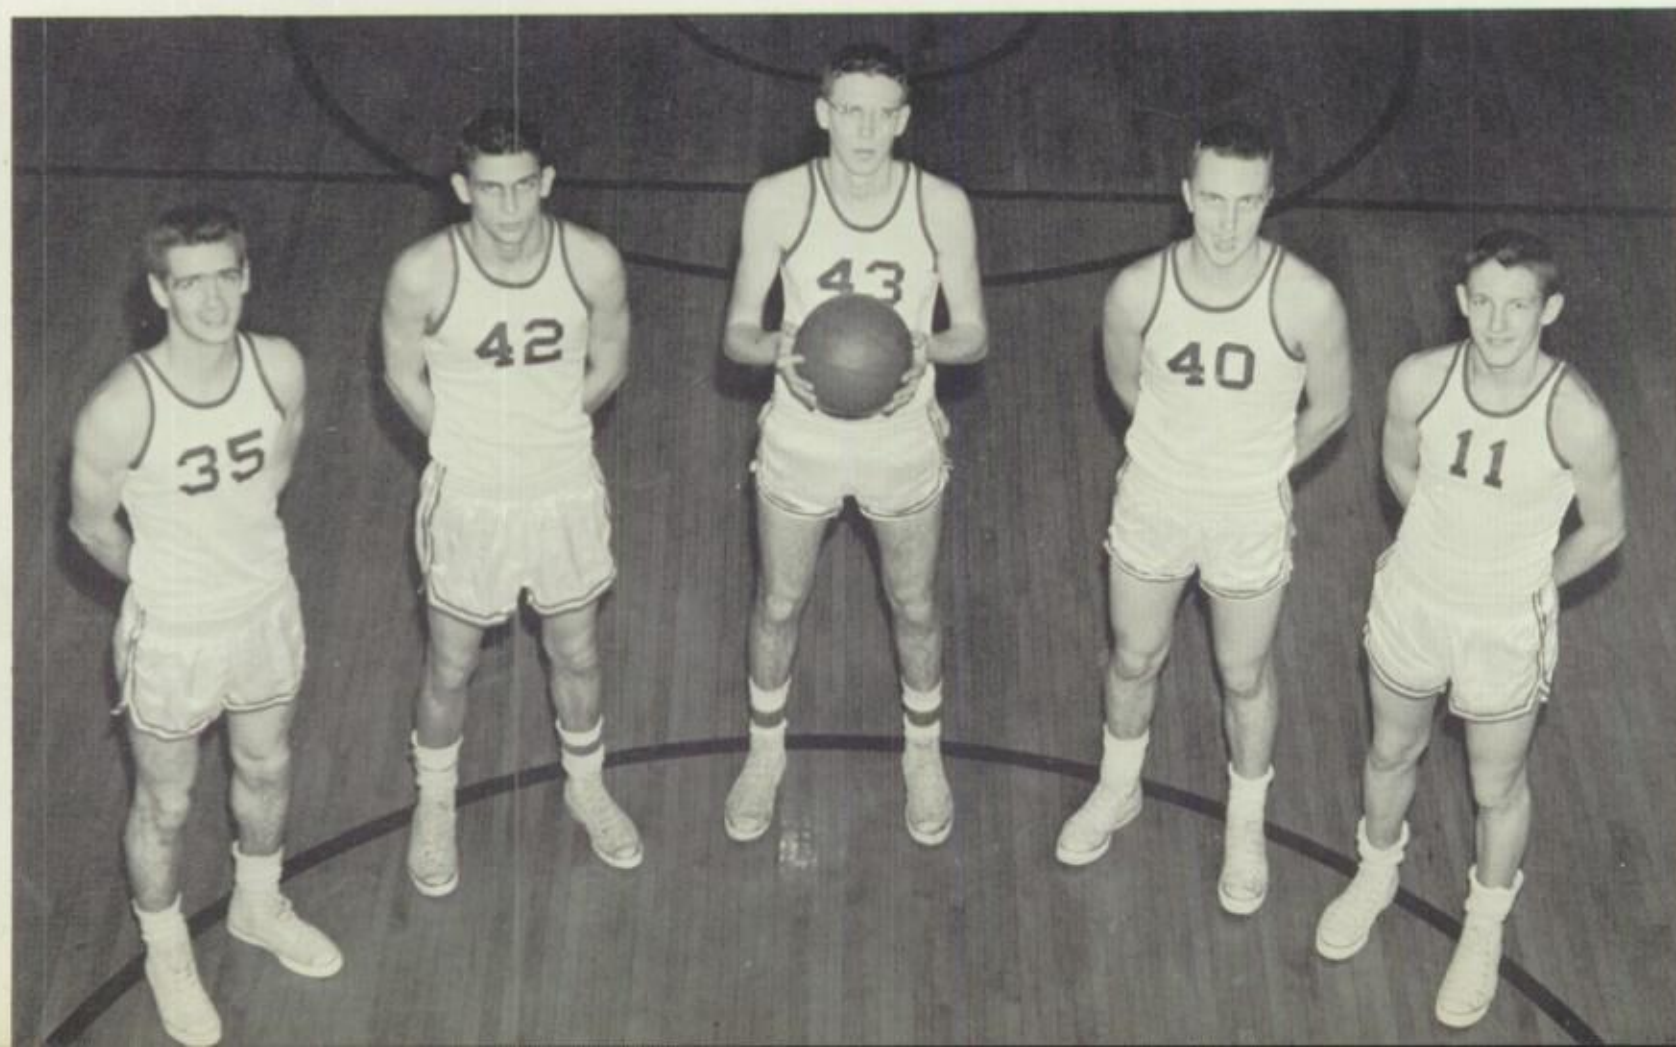

The Bulldogs wound up the season with a record of seventeen wins and five losses, good for a third place finish behind Campbell County and Newport in the N.K.A.C. Captain Tom Herron and Co-captain Bob Barton were named to the N.K.A.C. all-star team.

Left: The board of strategy for the Bulldog quintet are Co-Captain Bob Barton, Head Coach Ellis, and Captain Tom Herron.

Below: The Big-5, who have led the Bulldogs to a winning season, are Tom Herron, Jim Shelton, Dennis Hungler, Gene Mahorney, and Bob Barton.

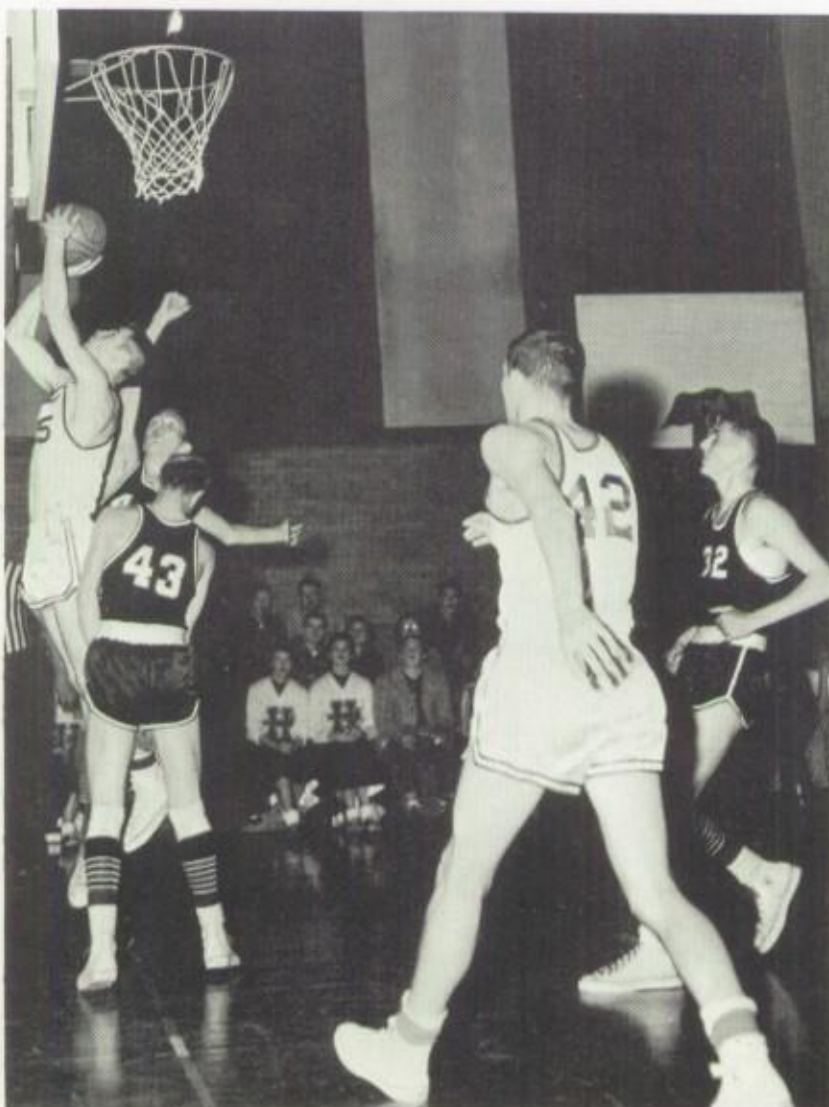

Tom Herron goes up in the air to lay in a shot as Ludlow players look on.

Dennis Hungler, Bob Barton, and Ludlow players stand ready to get the rebound as Jim Shelton shoots for the basket.

Referee Neal watches intently as Tom Herron attempts a lay-up.

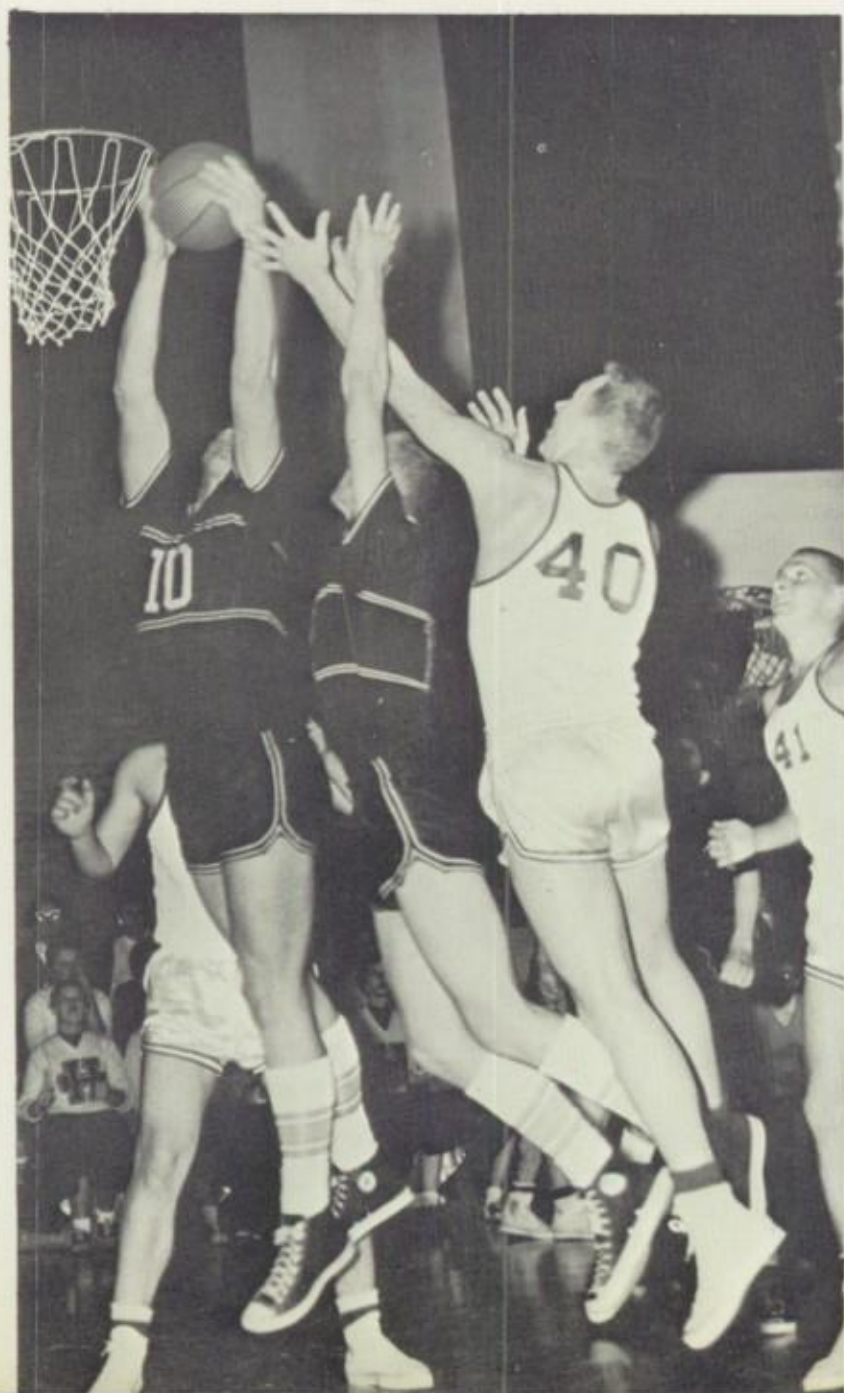

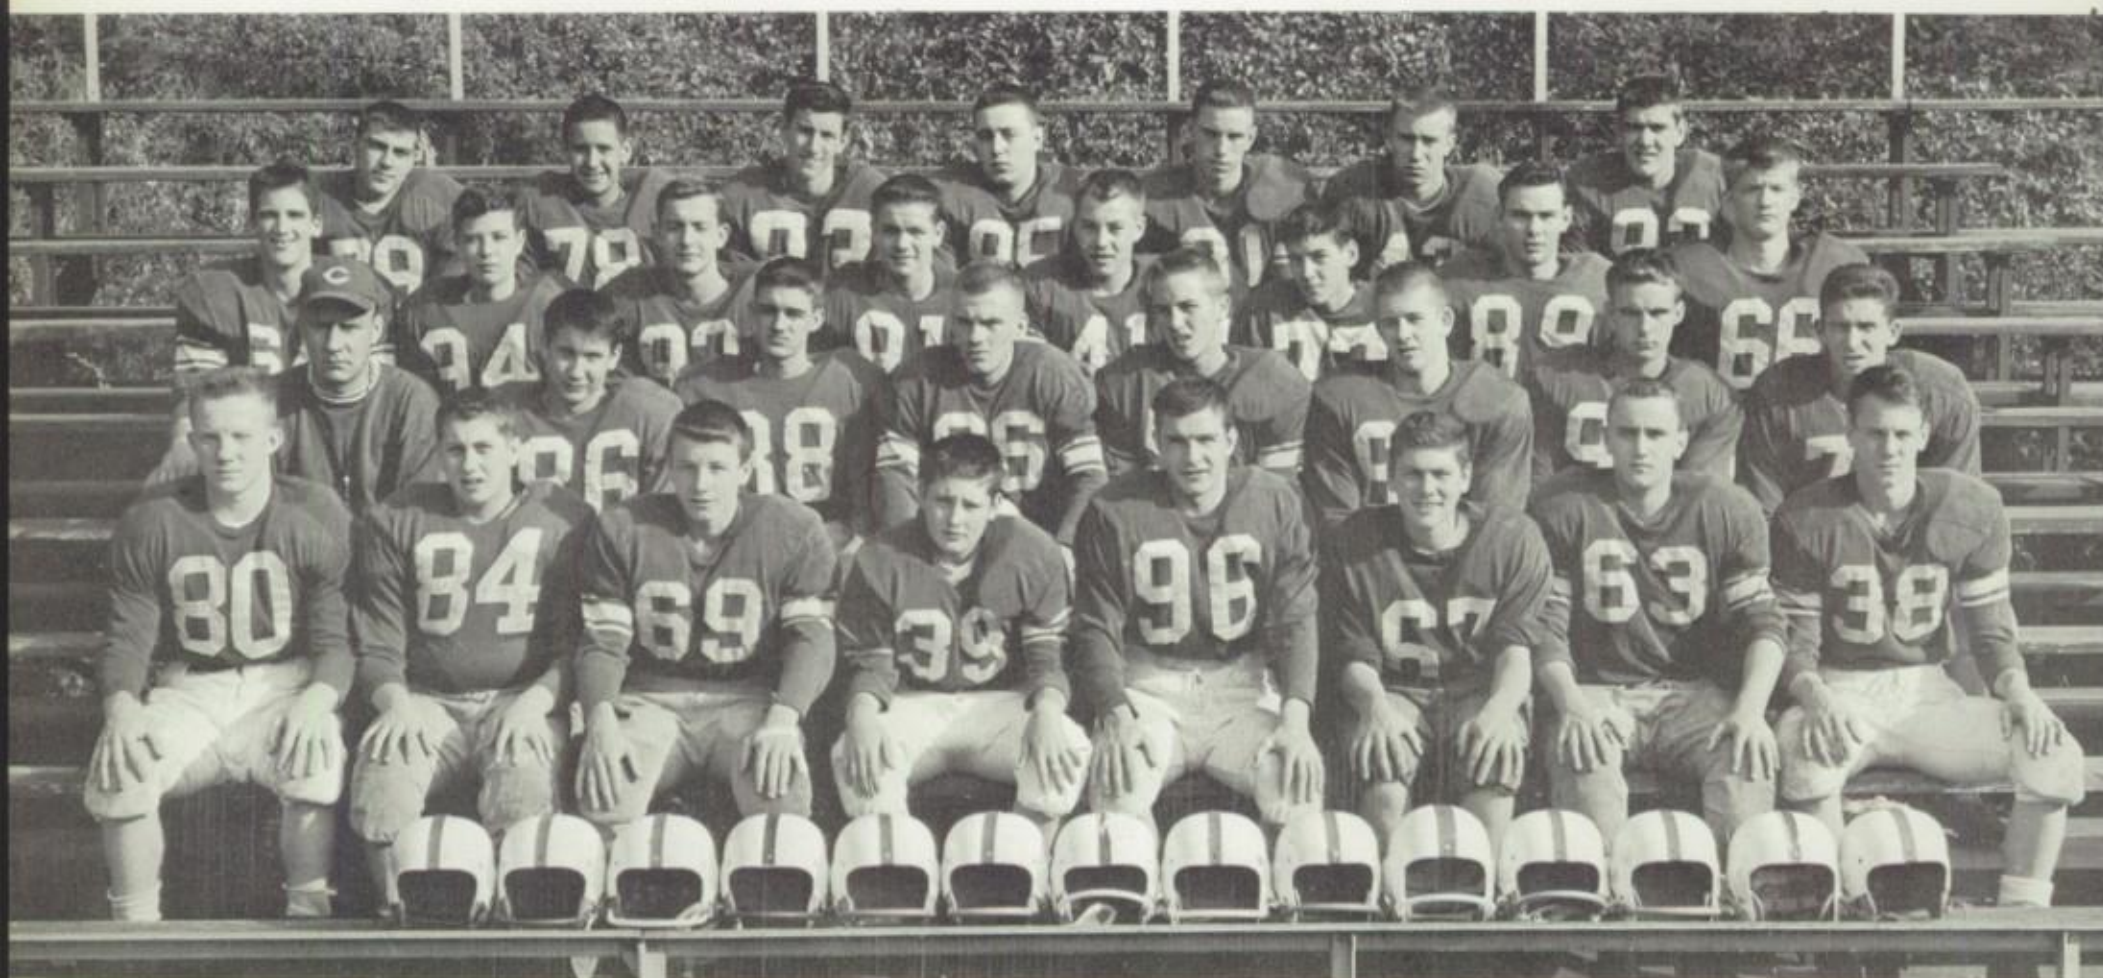

Jim Logsdon and Dennis Hungler go "way up in the air" as Carl Hacker, Jim Shelton, Bill Curry and Tom Herron stand ready to get the tip-off in a practice session.

Dennis Hungler rebounds the ball under the watchful eyes of Jim Shelton, Gene Mahorney, and Ludlow players.

Gene Mahorney makes a desperate lunge for the ball as a Bellevue player rebounds it.

Tennis

Right: Our tennis boys in the past have brought a great deal of honors to our alma mater. Since their season has not as yet begun, we say "Good luck this spring." The racquet-men, in this "V" for victory are: J. Baxter, D. Ellison, L. Benham, R. Logsdon, D. McElheney, D. Taylor, D. McElheney, R. Bird, C. White, D. Day, J. Reynolds, D. Baber, J. Soward, M. Hudson, B. Steinfort, J. Baber, D. Heuser.

Golf

Right: Last year's golf squad had a successful season. They competed with Covington Catholic, Lloyd, St. Thomas, Beechwood, Dixie, Newport Catholic, Highlands, and Holy Cross. They suffered their only defeat to Dixie. Skip Hodder and David Kumpe are the only returning lettermen for this year's squad. Jimmy Green, in the center of the picture, is a seventh grader who is going to play this year.

Kneeling: B. Barton, R. Ballard, R. Cox, L. Eads, D. Howard, T. Onkst, B. Curry, T. Ellis, D. Hughes, G. Jackson, D. Landrum, W. Slusher. Standing: Coach Ellis, B. Breeze, D. Dramis, T. Below: K-9er Bill Curry seems happy as he swings the bat.

Baseball

Because the yearbook goes to press before the "K-9" season begins, we cannot include the results of the '58 team with these pictures.

Last year the Holmes Bulldogs began practice April 1, at the Sohio Field in Latonia.

The results of last year's team were:

Opponent	We	They
Beechwood	12	1
Campbell County	3	0
Silver Grove	2	0
Boone County	7	2
Newport Public	5	4
Ludlow	5	2
Newport Catholic	3	5
Covington Catholic	2	3

In the opening round of the District Tournament at Covington Ball Park, May 13, Holmes' Bulldogs defeated Dixie 4-0.

Holmes advanced to the finals of the Beechwood District High School Baseball Tournament by defeating Ludlow 4-3, May 16.

The "Big Red" had a good season last year and this year's team is expected to work toward an even higher goal.

Girls' Swimming Club is an active organization at Holmes High School. During the school year members give dances, hayrides, and assembly programs.

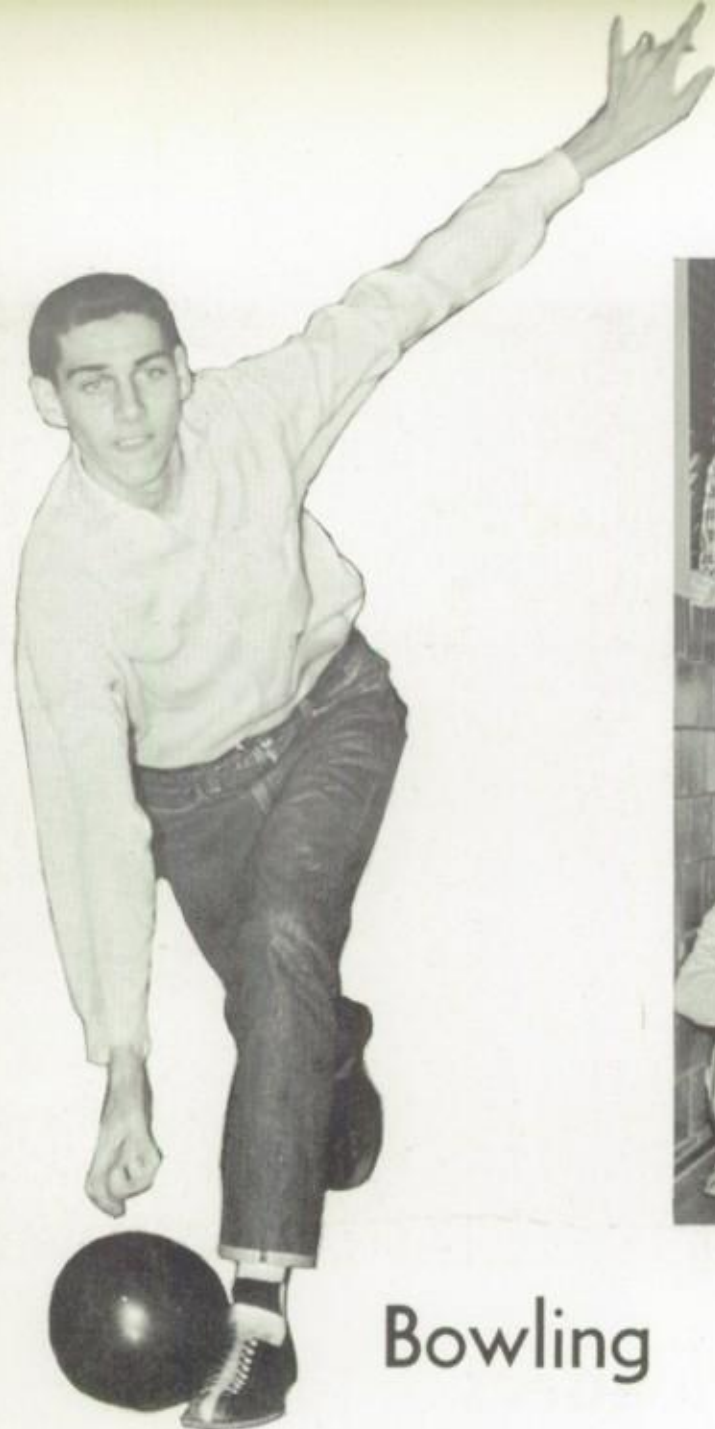

The girls swim at the Covington "Y" twice a month. Officers this year were Bonnie Walker, president; Barbara Northcutt, vice-president; Betty Carter, secretary; and Sandy McChesney, treasurer.

Right: Some of the more enthusiastic members at last decided to get their suits wet.

GAA

The Girls' Athletics Association's aim is to create a healthy outlet for the excess energy of the girls. Members participate in basketball, shuffle-board and table tennis. The girls' Varsity Basketball squad has previously played other schools in promoting good school spirit.

This year's officers were JoAnn Jackson, president; Wanda Casey, vice-president; Sue Thompson, secretary; and Joan Taylor, treasurer.

Above: Participating in one of the many activities of G.A.A. are D. Stewart, J. Jackson, M. Childress, B. Northcutt, J. Taylor, and D. Lyons.

Junior Prom

One night of high school days will stand out in our memories, when we were aglow with a timely feeling of excitement and expectation. The flickering flashes of light played upon the sequins of the girls' formals, bouncing their reflections upon the boys who kept pulling at the collars of unaccustomed finery. The night was beautiful and the world was ours the night of our Junior Prom.

The music of Jimmy James set the mood for a perfect night and announced the entrance of the King and Queen. Seated upon their throne and surrounded by attendants, King Tom Herron and Queen Carole Schaf-field were crowned by the royal pair of the class of '57.

After the dance, couples gulped a "no-doz" or two and headed for some place where they could continue their dancing and obtain some of the teen-age favorite . . . food. And so ended a wonderful night.

VARIETIES OF '58

After months of organizing, rehearsals, and revisions the long awaited night finally arrived. As the band completed the overture and the curtains parted the audience found themselves going, "Around the World," via the Variety Show of '58.

From the Cincinnati depot to the night spots of New York; from "foggy London town" to the smoke-filled cabarets of Paris; across Asia to Hawaii and on to Mexico, Cuba, and New Orleans they toured the sights.

Although the seniors had had two previous performances in which to polish their production on that final Friday night showing stagefright proved to be predominant.

Almost before they knew the show was ending they found themselves gathered in masse for the finale and as they joined in the lyrics of the class song realized that their show, their school, and their class are things that they "shall ne'er forget."

Above: "... by my little grass shack in Hawaii" is the hula line: L. O'Brien, C. Robinson, J. Stonestreet, S. Wallace, N. Adkins, C. Schaffield, P. Ball, J. Tellman, and J. Luthy.

Below: The modern jazz line is "Learning the Blues." They are H. Hickey, C. Bailey, J. Sturgeon, S. McChesney, E. Clore, R. Rider, B. Thompson, and M. Lawrence.

C. Lanius, J. Warren, A. Nunnally, K. Clinebell, S. Smith, and J. Gettys, as the two sets dance.

Below: Comrade Missing Link (Claude Gaines) soars into the audience to wreak havoc, only to be apprehended by "glorious" Russian soldiers.

Below: Emcee Win McChord sways with the music of exotic Arabia.

Rosemary Earlywine

Below: Four female Izaak Waltons, Judy Schuler, Nancy Shelton, Sue Thompson, and Marty Norris, gave their interpretation of "Gone Fishin'."

THE JUNIOR REVUE

Juniors

Almost through their high school life are the Juniors, who come to realize the teenage life that comics and cartoon strips frequently display. The Prom and Junior Revue become decisive factors in their lives, and, what is more, they are on the threshold of their senior year.

Sophomores find their first year in the senior department to be somewhat different from their junior high experiences. The teachers and activities give them the feeling of being closer to adulthood. Now they are able to plan for the responsibilities and pleasures of their junior and senior years.

Sophomores

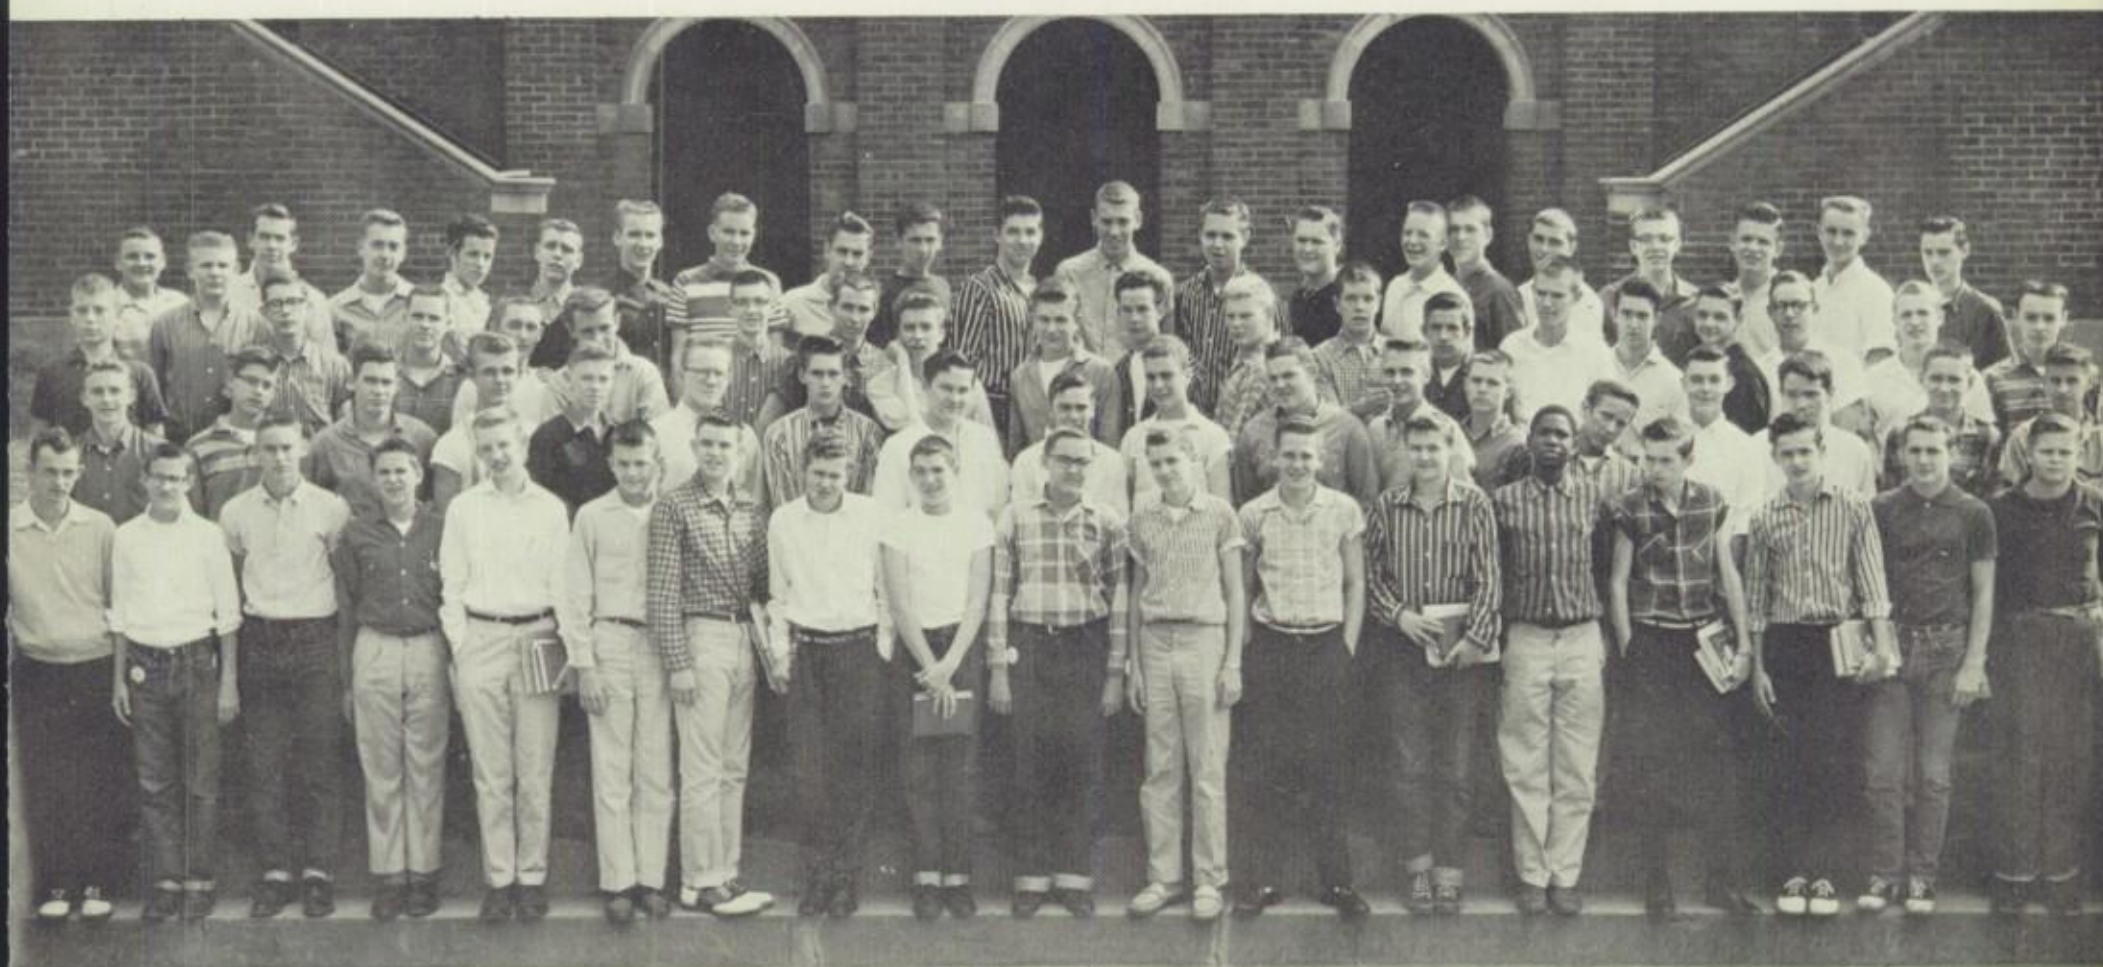

Freshmen

A student's third year at Holmes brings new pride and prestige to him. No longer is he a "grader," but he now bears the title of Freshman. Into the hands of these freshmen are committed the offices of the Student Council and the Pupil Aids.

Eighth Grade

Eighth graders, who have had the experience of one year at their new school, have a habit of looking at their underclassmen with an air of maturity, saying, "Did I look like that?" To them has been opened a new world of fashions, activities, and schoolwork, and by this time they are well on their way to adjustment.

Seventh Grade

Entering the seventh grade almost has the effect of new life, and in a sense, it is a new life. In the sixth grade these people were the "seniors" of elementary school. A year later they have changed from "the big frogs in the little pond" to "the little frogs in a big pond," and it is only natural that they feel a little afraid and excited.

Bonnie Walker, editor of the '58 Lest We Forget, personally thanks all those who helped make this book possible.
